Purpose of the website

This website provides information about CorVpoint STUDIO, individual software, web and automation services, and contact or request routes.

It is intended for private persons, teams and organisations. The presentation is informative and supports the preparation of individual projects. It is not an online shop and not an automated distance-selling catalogue.

Non-binding information and binding services

Texts, examples, indicative prices, process descriptions and technical notes published on this website are non-binding unless they are expressly designated as binding.

Only an individually confirmed offer, a contract documented in writing or electronically, a documented portal approval or another express confirmation of the scope of service is binding.

Formation of a mandate

A request, project briefing, upload, appointment or technical pre-check does not create a mandate.

A contractual relationship arises only when scope, terms and acceptance have been expressly confirmed or agreed in writing. Project start, handover and productive activation may depend on customer review, complete information, agreed approvals and due deposits or milestone payments.

Digital communication and signatures

Digital acceptances, email confirmations, portal approvals or simple electronic signatures may be used to document a business act where agreed and legally permitted.

Where mandatory law requires a special form or a qualified signature process, suitable procedures under Swiss ZertES, under eIDAS or under an individually agreed solution remain reserved. Without such an agreement, a digital approval is valid only to the legally permitted extent.

Cross-border contacts

CorVpoint STUDIO may communicate or work on a project basis with interested parties and customers outside Switzerland.

Such contacts alone do not create a fixed contractual relationship and do not choose a particular foreign law. Mandatory protective rights at the domicile of a consumer and mandatory data-protection and jurisdiction rules remain reserved.

Availability, currency and technical notes

The website is operated with due care. Uninterrupted availability, complete freedom from error or permanent currency of every individual item of information is not warranted.

Technical maintenance, security measures or disruptions at hosting, network or third-party providers may temporarily restrict access.

External links

This website may contain links to external third-party websites. Their operators alone are responsible for their content, availability, privacy practice and legality.

The mere presence of a link does not adopt third-party content and does not recommend the linked offering.

Copyright, trademarks, software and downloads

Content of this website, including texts, concepts, brand elements, logos, graphics, layouts, legal documents and downloads, is protected by copyright and, where applicable, other rights unless stated otherwise.

Any use beyond the limits permitted by law requires prior consent. Mere publication does not grant a licence to software, source code, work results or distinctive signs.

No public AI interaction on this website

This public website currently includes no chatbot, no publicly usable language model and no automatic generation of public page content by an AI system.

On a project basis CorVpoint may use AI support where this is agreed or appropriate for analysis, structuring or text, code or data assistance. Confidential customer data are not given to external AI systems in an uncontrolled way. Details are set out in the privacy policy and, where agreed, in the terms.

Liability

Liability for the content of this website is assumed within the bounds of actual due care. There is no blanket waiver for intent, gross negligence or personal injury.

To the extent permitted by law, there is no liability for slight negligence in cases of pure financial loss, for lost profit, for indirect consequential loss or for disruptions caused by third-party providers, hosting, networks, incorrect customer data or force majeure. Mandatory statutory liability rules remain unaffected.

Applicable law

To the extent permitted by law, use of this website and disputes arising from it are governed by the substantive law of Switzerland.

Mandatory provisions, in particular in favour of consumers, data-protection rights and mandatorily applicable foreign protective rules, remain reserved.

Place of jurisdiction

To the extent permitted by law and unless mandatory provisions provide otherwise, the place of jurisdiction is the provider's registered office or domicile in Courtepin, Switzerland.

For consumers domiciled in the EU, the EEA or another state with a mandatory place of jurisdiction, those rules remain reserved.

Further documents

The privacy policy, the general terms and conditions and the imprint apply in addition, in the version published on this website.

This page does not repeat the terms. Contractual conditions for projects are set out in the offer, the contract and the terms.
